

Royal wedding blog

Are you excited about the impending royal wedding? If the answer's yes you certainly wouldn't be the only one. Commentators have already named Kate and Wills' nuptials as the wedding that is going to unite the country, so it seems we have months of wedding fever to look forward to. And it's not just brides and the Daily Mail that are bubbling over with enthusiasm, wedding planners are pretty happy about it too. Emma Douglas, of Timeless White Wedding & Celebration Planning, has even launched a blog stream dedicated to royal wedding news. Emma will dedicate herself to scouring the news for details, rumours and gossip to post about. So tune in here to get a piece of the royal wedding action...www.weddingplannerscotland.blogspot.com
